

THE SOURCE

As far as we know only in the neighborhood of a sun such as ours is it possible to find the constant warmth and light that are necessary for life. Every atom on Earth was once fused either in the burning heart of our sun, or in the massive supernova explosions that end the life of stars like ours and scatter elements from which other suns and planets begin to form: perpetuating the unending cycle of energy.

“We come spinning out of nothingness, scattering stars like dust.” Rumi

All living things require energy to survive. Our bodies require a specific form of energy called ‘infrared’ – an essential part of the sun’s complete electromagnetic spectrum, and vital for optimal form and function, development and recuperation. Over time, humans and other living organisms have evolved to selectively absorb their daily dose of infrared energy. However, at times when injury, disease and stress demand a boost of infrared energy to ensure repair and renewal for the fullest healing possible, then WullStone FIRE massage is the perfect solution.

Infrared radiant energy can be divided into 3 segments with Far InfraRed as the furthest in sequence, and with the longest wavelength (5.6 to 1,000 microns, or 5600 nanometers to just under a centimeter) The infrared band of energy starts just under – or infra to – red visible light: hence the name ‘infrared’.

Ancient Technique, New Technology: Asian Wisdom, Western Science.

Throughout time, infrared energy – also known as Prana, Chi, Ki or ‘Life Force’ – remains at the core of traditional energy medicine: transmitted through the palms of healers and other ‘tools’ such as various minerals in stones and rocks. Recent interest in ‘energy medicine’ from the scientific community has shown that Far InfraRed Energy (FIRE) stimulates a significant increase in DNA and protein synthesis, initiates human fibroblasts to rebuild connective tissue, and incites overall cell growth, which is partially why NASA defines FIR (Far Infrared) wavelengths as ‘bioenergetic’. As a consequence, we’re seeing an influx of FIR consumer products intended to meet the growing demand for healthy aging options.

The WullStone FIRE massage is the only mineral far infrared energy system of its kind.

WullStone FIRE therapy, with its’ fusion of ancient holistic philosophy and modern electronic technology, combines all three forms of healing in one device to provide a new strategy for total wellness in skin, body, mind and spirit.’